

LEED® GREEN ASSOCIATE (GA)

SESSION DESCRIPTION

Passing the LEED exam requires a working knowledge of LEED and green building as well as the ability to apply that knowledge to LEED project situations. This study session provides a review of LEED project administration, the credits and points in each LEED category, and how they are applied on real projects. Homework problems challenge participants to develop a working understanding of the LEED system. Role play exercises will allow participants to practice applying LEED in the way they will be tested on the exam.

Experienced LEED Accredited Professionals run each study session using a participatory approach for adult learners. All participants will have to study the LEED Green Associate Candidate Handbook, as well as other resources outside of the study sessions to prepare for and pass the examination.

PREPARATION

Students will need to have a copy of the LEED Green Associate Candidate Handbook, having read or obtained the Primary References listed in the handbook. The completion of homework, which will be sent to you prior to the session start, is strongly encouraged.

8-HOUR COURSE INCLUDES

- Small Group Exercises: Hands-on activities/practical applications related to LEED Categories
- Presentations on the LEED Exam structure, content, and test taking tips
- Practice Exams and Quizzes
- Discussion on LEED Categories and credit synergies
- Much more!
